

HeForShe: Mining Edition Mining For Diversity Reception 2017

#OPENMINED

JOIN US AT PDAC

Are you aspiring to build a successful career in mining? Do you believe that mining should continue to make an effort to attract the best and the brightest talent? If so, don't miss this event at the PDAC 2017 Convention!

HeForShe

In the true spirit of "HeforShe," a UN Initiative, we invite the men of mining to join us and continue the dialogue on diversity and inclusion in Mining. Come out and pledge your HeforShe support, while hearing from Keynote Speaker: Giles Hellyer, BHP Billiton's VP Operations for Potash.

CELEBRATE DIVERSITY

This reception is our chance to celebrate diversity in mining. Attendees will connect with like-minded people, share opinions and ideas for progress, and honour the WIM Canada 2017 Trailblazer recipient, as well as celebrate the first ever Student Trailblazer award and the Rick Hutson Memorial award for Mentorship.

In celebration of diversity and inclusion efforts in the mining industry, the following organizations are proud to host this event.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Global resources company BHP Billiton recently announced a target of achieving gender balance at every level of the organization by 2025, and has elevated inclusion and diversity as a strategic priority for the business. Giles Hellyer is BHP Billiton's VP: Operations for Potash, based in Saskatchewan, Canada, where the company is building the Jansen Project. Building a new potash mine enables the incorporation of specific design elements to ensure Jansen is attractive to a diverse workforce at all levels. Giles talks about this opportunity, and about leading diverse teams in an organization where line leaders own and drive the inclusion and diversity that are recognized as the keys to success.
